This is a printable ACADEMY FLYER (badminton). Punchy, warm, concise ? it's marketing for coaches/players.

KEEP verbatim: KheIsutra, kheIsutra.guru, kheIsutra.guru/capture, hello@kheIsutra.guru, WhatsApp, Instagram, 1080p, "??60%", the watermark "Generated by KheIsutra.guru". Keep symbols ? ? ? · and emoji.

Bengaluru/India: use the locale's established spelling (es/da/id keep them in Latin). Sport names may take their natural local form (e.g. es "bádminton").

REUSE the REFERENCE wording for the overlapping lines ? esp. the hero lead, the golden rule, the essentials (place/settings/audio), the consent + watermark sentences (flyer "priv" ? consent + watermark), and the "rally"/"reel"

/"footage"/"court" terms ? so the flyer matches the website voice.

Preserve inline HTML EXACTLY (tags + attributes incl. the kheIsutra.guru/capture href), translating only the human text: keys with markup are h1 (), lead/qrSmall (&), spotP/golden/ess1?4 (), more ().

All other keys are plain text ? add no HTML. "&" stays "&" (it's HTML source).

Return {"issues":[{"key,severity,problem,suggestion}]}; empty if clean.

I'll review this Indonesian flyer translation. Let me check the source against the draft systematically.

Structured output provided successfully

I've reviewed the Indonesian flyer translation against the source and the review lens criteria. The translation is strong overall: inline HTML is preserved exactly (h1's ``, `&` entities in lead/qrSmall, `` tags in spotP/golden/ess1-4, and the `` link), all kept terms are intact (KheIsutra, WhatsApp, Instagram, 1080p, the watermark, ???· symbols), plain keys carry no HTML, and there's no raw-key leakage.

I found two low-severity stray-English nits, both reported via the StructuredOutput tool:

1. figcaption ? "English" appears as a bare English word in Indonesian running text; the natural locale label would be "Inggris" (Kannada/Hindi stay in native script).
2. ess3 ? "audio ON" uses an uppercase English toggle word; Indonesian-natural "audio nyala/aktif" fits the flyer voice better.

Neither is a hard error; the inline-HTML and kept-term contracts are all satisfied.
