hello - can you check whether there are any open files or pending or lingering items/files in this repo? Make sure this repo is as fresh as a fresh checkout from remote

2. assistant (2026-06-29T09:23:05.131Z)

I'll inspect the repository state ? working tree, untracked files, stashes, and how local compares to the remote.

The repo is clean ? no uncommitted changes, no stashes, no untracked files, no extra branches/worktrees, and no in-progress git operations. The only differences from a fresh checkout:

1. Local `master` is behind origin/master by 3 commits (#117, #118, #119).
2. `.claude/` exists locally but it's gitignored (it's the Claude Code harness directory, not part of the repo).

Let me fast-forward to match the remote:

Done. The repo is now as fresh as a clean checkout from remote.

Summary of what I found and did:

| Check | Result |
|---|---|
| Uncommitted changes | None |
| Staged files | None |
| Untracked files | None |
| Stashes | None |
| Extra local branches | None (only `master`) |
| Worktrees | None (just the main one) |
| In-progress git ops (rebase/merge/cherry-pick/bisect) | None |
| Behind remote | Was 3 commits behind ? fast-forwarded to `ca8bfcc` |

I also ran `git fetch --prune`, which cleaned up three stale remote-tracking branches (`docs/gpu-vm-serving`, `docs/gpu-vm-teardown-vars`, `feat/stage-from-bucket`) that had already been deleted on GitHub.

The only thing still present that wouldn't be in a bare clone is the gitignored `.claude/` directory ? that's the Claude Code harness's own folder (config/memory), not part of the project, so I left it untouched. `git status` now reports `master` clean and in sync with `origin/master`.
